HERIOT-WATT COLLEGE.

The Heriot-Watt College, recognised as a Central Technical Institution by the Scotch Education Department, provides complete day courses in Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Mining Engineering, Applied Chemistry, including Bio-Chemistry & Fermentation Industries. In connection with the University of Edinburgh arrangements exist for joint curricula leading up to the degree of B.Sc. in Civil, Mechanical, Electrical & Mining Engineering. In addition many of the day courses are recognised by the University of Edinburgh as qualifying for degree purposes in pure science. The diploma in Mining is accepted by the Home Office for the purpose of the Colliery Manager's certificate of competency & the Mining courses are also recognised by the University of London for the degree of B.Sc.Lond. in Mining (external students). The courses in Chemistry prepare for Associateship of Institute of Chemistry & for B.Sc. of Edinburgh & London. There are also complete courses preparing for professional examinations of Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain. Arrangements exist with local engineering firms for shortened apprenticeships to students who hold the College Diploma in Engineering. The college is provided with up-to-date & well equipped laboratories & workshops. There are a large number of evening classes in various departments of pure & applied science, technical subjects, commerce, languages & trade subjects at moderate fees. Under the Education (Scotland) Act, 1918, the Education Authorities of Edinburgh & counties within the district served by the college are empowered to award bursaries to deserving students to enable them to attend the day & evening classes.

AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION.

By a Supplementary Charter under the Great Seal, granted in 1856, the Society is empowered to grant Diplomas
From 1858 to 1899 the Society held an annual Examination for Certificate & Diploma in Agriculture. In 1872 the Free Life Membership of the Society was granted to winners of the Diploma. In 1884 permission was given to holders of the Diploma to append the letters F.H.A.S. to their names
In 1898 it was resolved by the Royal Agricultural Society of England & the Highland & Agricultural Society of Scotland to discontinue the independent Examinations in Agriculture held by the two Societies, & to institute in their stead a Joint-Examination for a National Diploma in Agriculture (N.D.A.). This Examination is now conducted under the management of the "National Agricultural Examination Board" appointed by the two Societies. In the year 1903, on the invitation of the two Societies, the Ministry of Agriculture & Fisheries & the Scottish Education Department agreed to appoint a representative from each to act on the Examination Board

VETERINARY DEPARTMENT.

The Society established a veterinary department in 1823, but by an arrangement made with the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons, the Society's examination ceased in 1881. Holders of the Society's Veterinary Certificate are entitled to become members of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons, on payment of certain fees, without being required to undergo any further examination
The Society votes annually eleven silver medals for class competition to each of the two veterinary colleges in Scotland, the one in Edinburgh & the other in Glasgow.

FORESTRY DEPARTMENT.

The Society grants first & second class certificates in Forestry. The examinations are open to candidates of any age

DAIRY DEPARTMENT.

Examination in the Science & Practice of Dairying.
This Examination, instituted in 1897, is conducted jointly by the Royal Agricultural Society of England & the Highland & Agricultural Society of Scotland
